

MAX MENSY

Managing Director - Investment Banking Division
Morgan Stanley

Max Mesny is Morgan Stanley's Global Co-Head of Financial Technology investment banking and EMEA Head of Financial Technology and Services investment banking. Max advises financial institutions, financial sponsors and corporates, in the fields of capital markets and specialty finance services and technology as well as in the industries of payments and data processing and related services, on equity and debt fundraising options, corporate finance, initial public offerings, leverage finance, and mergers and acquisitions.

Max has advised and is working with clients internationally, in North America, Asia Pacific, Europe, Middle East and Africa, and is passionate about disruptive and new financial technologies and business services, and about supporting the innovators and entrepreneurs behind the vision.

Morgan Stanley is the leading investment bank to the capital markets infrastructure and stock exchanges services industries, globally and in Europe.