Space Hellas “Cisco Customer Experience Specialization”

Space Hellas announces that it recently received from Cisco the important certification of "Customer Experience Specialization". The company has proven that it meets all the high requirements of the role to receive the "Customer Experience" certification from Cisco, which substantially distinguishes it among Cisco partners and creates a particularly significant competitive advantage for its customers, providing consulting services for making the most of Cisco solutions in their infrastructure.

Space Hellas was evaluated based on its ability to provide advanced Cisco value-added solutions through its in-depth sales capabilities, technological skills and services in Greece, Cyprus and Malta.

This important certification confirms the high degree of expertise that Space Hellas holds in Customer Experience with Cisco products and solutions. Possessing deep know-how and specialized experience, while giving special emphasis and continuous dedication, Space Hellas provides an integrated experience to its customers - partners, helping them achieve their goals, overcoming any problems that may arise and offering a unique CX (Customer Experience).

As a Cisco Gold Certified Partner, Space Hellas constantly invests in its partnership with Cisco, holding the highest expertise, but also numerous certifications that demonstrate its deep knowledge of Cisco technologies and transformations, thus creating a significant competitive advantage for organizations wishing to succeed in their digital transformation.
